

ABSTRACT AND BIOGRAPHY

TURBOTECH: Does Your TechEval Pass the Test?

TurboTech is a free NASA-developed automated tool to help you evaluate proposals submitted by contractors. Through an easy question and answer format, the tool facilitates the assessment of the reasonableness of the resources proposed. Come and see TurboTech demonstrated and learn how to get your own user id.

Dorothy Tiffany, MSPM, CPA, PMP
EVM Program Executive
NASA Goddard Space Flight Center

Dorothy Tiffany is the NASA EVM Program Executive and the NASA PM Challenge Project Manager in NASA's Office of Chief Engineer. She also holds the position of Deputy Associate Director for Business Management for the Advanced Concepts and Formulation Office at NASA's Goddard Space Flight Center. Ms. Tiffany is responsible for leading the Agency's implementation of Earned Value Management and for developing stronger project teams. She is a frequent conference speaker and faculty member for the NASA Academy of Program/Project & Engineering Leadership and Boston University in the fields of project management, earned value management, budgeting and effective communications.

She previously managed the business operations of numerous large satellite development projects, including Cloud-Aerosol Lidar and Infrared Pathfinder Satellite Observation (Calipso), Polar Operational Environmental Satellite (POES), Tropical Rainfall Measuring Mission (TRMM), and Tracking and Data Relay Satellite (TDRS). She also directed GSFC's Financial Management Division and Accounting Branch, instituting major information system reforms with the voucher examination and payment process.

Ms. Tiffany was awarded two NASA Exceptional Achievement Medals and the NASA Exceptional Service Medal for her work in finance and project management and has been recognized for her efforts in mentoring and diversity. She was also awarded the Distinguished Contribution Award by the Project Management Institute (PMI).

Ms. Tiffany holds an M.S. in Project Management from Boston University, a B.S. in Accounting from the University of Maryland and a Certificate in Technology Management from the California Institute of Technology (Caltech). She is a certified Project Management Professional (PMP) with the PMI and a Certified Public Accountant (CPA). Ms. Tiffany is a member of PMI, the College of Performance Management, the Maryland Association of Certified Public Accountants and the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants.